Our Green Up grant program is designed to help create or enhance an environmental program for students in Elementary or Junior High schools. Twenty-five schools in our service area were awarded a grant of $1,000 to implement an environmental education program.

Brooks Junior High School will start a grassroots program that engages students to work with experienced farmers to grow, package and market their produce within the community. Allen Lee will be working on this project with students and has authorized photos to be taken by media.
